LETTERS FROM THE PUBLISHER

As the new year begins, I am reminded of the many changes that have taken place in the medical profession and in the world at large. The medical profession has made great strides in the past few years, and it is our hope that the Journal will continue to be a valuable source of information for the medical community. We have received many letters from our readers, and we are grateful for their interest and support. We will continue to strive for excellence in our publication, and we hope that you will continue to be a part of our community.

The Journal of the American Medical Association is a weekly publication that provides the medical community with the latest news and information. We are proud to be a part of this community, and we hope that you will continue to be a part of our community. We will continue to strive for excellence in our publication, and we hope that you will continue to be a part of our community.
